Foreign investment is one of the key factors in ensuring economic growth and economic development. One of the main goals of any country is to attract foreign investment. The role of foreign investment in achieving sustainable economic growth, structural reforms in the economy and improving the living standards of the population is significant.

Focusing foreign investment on priority sectors of the economy and clearly defining their effectiveness, attracting science-based investment decisions, taking into account all the conditions of foreign financial resources on the basis of rational regulation of investment activities will determine the future of the national economy. Finding the necessary foreign investment for all sectors of the economy has become a prerequisite for economic growth. It is important that these criteria are taken into account at the current stage of reform and development of the national economy of Uzbekistan. Its main tasks are to increase the role of export potential in ensuring sustainable economic growth, increase the contribution of small business and private entrepreneurship, deepen the liberalization process and increase the effectiveness of state support for priority sectors of the economy¹.

Therefore, without attracting foreign investment, especially without expanding the participation of foreign investment in key sectors, it is impossible to carry out structural changes and modernization of the economy, re-equip enterprises with modern equipment and launch the production of competitive products. Attracting foreign investment in the economy of our country is important in accelerating the expansion of its economic potential, ensuring the economic power of the state through the use of domestic potential and reserves in all areas, the development of new equipment and technology, export-oriented goods, their production earns.

It is well known that one of the great wonders of the liberal economic system that began between states after World War II was foreign investment. Indeed, foreign investment has had a major impact on the country's economic
